

A Word about the Writer

My name is Mark Pickett. I live in Wales, have worked in South Asia, and have taught on several theological education programmes. I have an MA in Intercultural Studies from Wheaton College, USA and a PhD in Nepalese Culture from Tribhuvan University, Nepal.

My commitment is to the Bible as the living word of God. I am keen to get people to think through what the Bible teaches by interacting with their cultural context.

You can find out more about me here: <http://markandbeckypickett.weebly.com>.

I blog at Pickett Post: <http://markpickett.blogspot.co.uk> and tweet at @drmarkpickett.